

10 YEARS OF RAMPENLICHTER CALL FOR APPLICATIONS 2017

Dance and theatre seeks to intrude, disrupt, shock, move, inspire, and open up audiences to new, strange, unknown worlds. Borders are crossed and utopia reached as the mundane and everyday is reconsidered on the stage. Dance and theatre productions with and by children and teenagers require an open stage and young artists need a space for artistic exchange. Rampenlichter provides both. Here young performers are given the opportunity to present their unique perspective on life and art and provided a safe-space to meet and engage in an ongoing creative dialogue with performance groups from Munich, Germany, and across the globe.

Rampenlichter presents children and youth dance and theatre productions developed by artists and educators. The festival fosters a platform within the artistic community for creative expression and artistic intervention through dance and theatre.

2017 marks the festival's ten year anniversary and we are searching for small and large, quiet and loud, simple and spectacular performances from children and youth for the largest dance and theatre festival found in Munich's Creative Quarter.

Apply Today and Become a Part of Rampenlichter 2017

Selected groups will be invited to present their performance, watch other productions, and take part in the numerous activities taking place the festival grounds specific for young artists.

German and international groups are invited to apply for Rampenlichter with theatre, dance, and dance theatre productions from children and youth.

Application Deadline: January 31, 2017
Selection Date: February 17, 2017
